

Privacy Statement

Privacy Statement concerning the Humanparc GmbH Website

Humanparc GmbH has undertaken to comply with all applicable legal provisions concerning the protection of personal data and data integrity in the structuring of this website. This section contains information on the circumstances under which we collect information about you, what we do with this information and who, if anyone, we allow to access this information.

Consent to the use of data

We cannot gather any personal data (e.g. name, address, phone number or e-mail address) about you through our website unless you provide this information voluntarily (for instance when placing an order, making an enquiry, completing a survey or submitting a job application) or unless the applicable legal provisions concerning the protection of your data allow us to do this.

Determination of purpose

We will gather, process and use the information you make available to us online solely for the stated purpose unless the gathering, processing and use of the information is carried out for a purpose that is directly connected with the original purpose for which the personal data was gathered, - as a result of a legal obligation or on the instruction of a government authority or court of law – or to substantiate or protect against legal claims or to prevent illegal activity.

Storage of data

The personal data which you provide to us is stored only for as long as it is needed in order to achieve the purpose for which you provided the data to us if you have actively given your consent to this, or for as long as the law stipulates.

Secure communication

We use SSL encryption in order to securely transmit your personal data. This method is recognised as a safe form of data transmission. Communication that takes place without the use of this option (e.g. e-mail communication) does not constitute a secure method of data transmission.

Security

Humanparc GmbH makes every effort to take technical and organisational safety measures to protect your personal data from being unintentionally or wrongly deleted, changed or lost, and from being passed on or accessed by unauthorised means. Our employees are obligated to observe confidentiality and data protection rules.

E-mail

If you specify your e-mail address, we will communicate with you by e-mail. We will not pass on your e-mail address to third parties. You can revoke your consent to us communicating with you by e-mail at any time.

Links to other sites

Where our website includes links to the websites of external companies, Humanparc GmbH is not responsible for the content of these websites or for ensuring that the external websites comply with data protection requirements.

Children

The website of Humanparc GmbH is not intended for use by children under 14 years of age. Humanparc GmbH will not knowingly gather or store the personal data of children.

Updating the privacy statement

Constant technical advances in the field of information technology and the Internet may necessitate the modification of the existing privacy statement. We therefore reserve the right to make additions or changes to this privacy statement. This declaration was last updated on July 10, 2023.

Right to information

We will tell you what personal data we have stored about you if you make a written request to this effect. Please write to the address specified under Legal Notice if you wish to make such a request.